ABOUT MIKE BEEZY

Born in Wisconsin, Mike Beezy never thought of his life being what it is today. As a child Mike loved music and performing. Mike grew up singing in the church choir with his Mom and like many teenagers discovered Hip Hop and began to spit rhymes in high school to impress the ladies. Mike entered every talent show he could enter, and it was his brother who saw something special about Mike. Mike's brother told him he had a gift for music and that he believed it was his calling. Sadly two days later Mike's brother would pass away.

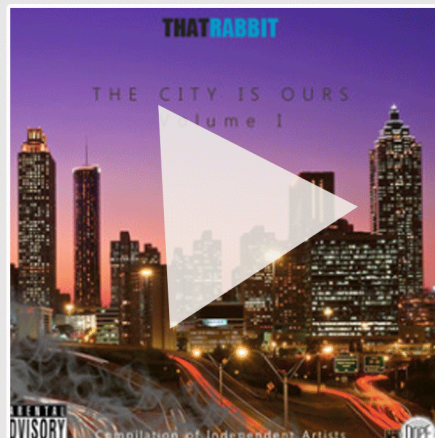

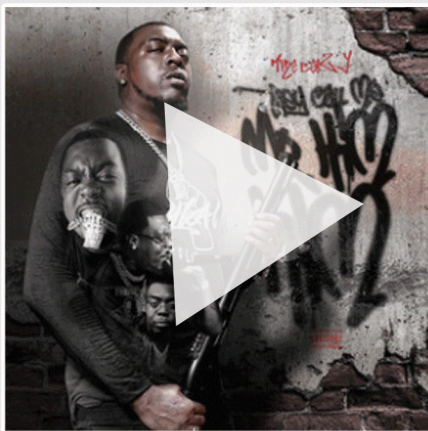

Fast forward to today, Mike Beezy would go on to become a platinum selling recording artist, accomplished recording engineer, and record producer. He's been on several concert tours, and has had both independent and major label recording contracts. Mike has experienced the pluses and minuses of the entertainment industry. Today Mike is best known as, one of the hottest "engineers to the stars." Mike Beezy has worked with multi-platinum artists such as Chris Brown, Lil Boosie, TI, The Migos, T Pain, Ty Dolla, Usher, Babyface and the list goes on. Mike Beezy by industry standards is considered to be a triple threat because he is a recording artist, songwriter and record producer. Many say those skills are what makes him such a sensational engineer. Mike will tell you he is blessed with a third ear. He states that he can hear an artist's sound before they hear it themselves. This has contributed to his deep love and passion for music and that attributes to his success on his journey to greatness.
